This architectural elevation drawing shows a building facade with various elevation markers. The building features a light-colored main wall and a darker, textured roof. A section on the left is labeled 'PORTICO'. Elevation markers are placed at various heights: +472 on the far left, +485 and +360 on the left side, +614 and +415 on the roofline, +695 on the main wall, +310 on the right side, and +315 on the far right. The drawing includes stylized trees and a textured ground area.
